COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

Mr. Dodd moved that the House do now resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole House for the purpose of continuing the investigation of the charges filed against the Governor.

The motion prevailed, and the House accordingly, at 9 o'clock a. m., resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole House.

(In Committee of the Whole House, Mr. Fly in the chair.)

IN THE HOUSE.

(Speaker Fuller in the chair.)

Mr. Bledsoe moved a call of the House for the purpose of maintaining a quorum for the consideration of the report of the Committee of the Whole House, and the motion was duly seconded.

The Speaker directed the Doorkeeper to close the main entrance to the Hall and permit no member to leave the Hall without written permission from the Chair, and he instructed the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock all other doors leading out of the Hall.

(Mr. Spencer of Wise in the chair.)

Mr. Fly, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House, at 6:40 o'clock p. m., submitted the following report:

Austin, Texas, August 23, 1917.

To the Hon. F. O. Fuller, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

The Committee of the Whole House, on arising, instructed its Chairman to report that they had finally concluded the investigation committed to them and submitted the following resolution adopted by said Committee, as the full report to the House of Representatives:

Be it resolved by the Committee of the Whole House, That this Committee now rise, report back to the House that it had heard evidence touching the charges of official misconduct presented against Jas. E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, and this Committee is of the opinion that impeachment charges should be preferred against him in the Senate of Texas;

Be it further resolved, That in as much as Hon. F. O. Fuller, Speaker of the House, made and filed the charges upon which the investigation was based, that the Hon. W. M. Fly, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House, appoint a committee of nine to act as a Board of Managers to prepare the articles of impeachment, to present them to the House for their approval, and if adopted, to prefer and present them to the Senate of Texas. And in addition thereto said committee shall present before the Senate of Texas the evidence in support of said charges.

(Signed) W. H. BLEDSOE.

COMMITTEE TO PREPARE ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Fly, acting under resolution passed by the House of Representatives on August 23, announced the following appointment of the committee of nine to act as a board of managers to prepare the articles of impeachment to present them to the House for their approval, and if adopted to prefer and present them to the Senate of Texas, and in addition thereto said committee to present before the Senate of Texas the evidence in support of said charges, to-wit:

Messrs. Bryan, Woods, Bledsoe, Thomason of El Paso, McMillin, Haidusek, Murrell, Spencer of Wise, Cope.

On motion of Mr. McMillin, Mr. Fly was added to the above committee.

pointed to prosecute the case of the House of Representatives against James E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, beg leave to submit the following Articles of Impeachment against the said James E. Ferguson, with the recommendation that said Articles of Impeachment be adopted by this House and presented to the Senate.

Signed—Bledsoe, Fly, Murrell, Haidusek, Spencer of Wise, McMillin, Woods, Thomason of El Paso, Cope, Bryan.

Articles of Impeachment.

Articles adopted and exhibited by the House of Representatives in their name and in the name of the people of the State of Texas against James E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, in maintenance and support of their impeachment against him and in accordance with the resolution adopted by Committee of the Whole House, which resolution was reported to the House of Representatives and by them adopted.

Article 1. That there was paid from the funds of the Canyon City Normal School deposited with the Temple State Bank, on August 23, 1915, a note of $5000 together with $600 interest due by James E. Ferguson to the First National Bank of Temple, Texas. That said amount has never been refunded to the State of Texas. That in part payment of the total due for the building of the Canyon City Normal College he used other funds, a portion of which belonged to the State, and the balance being in his hands as Governor, and deposited to his credit as Governor in the American National Bank of Austin, which acts constitute a violation of law.

Article 2. That James E. Ferguson received from former Governor O. B. Colquitt more than $101,000, the proceeds from insurance policies on the Canyon City Normal School. That at the time said monies were turned over to him they were on deposit in banks bearing interest at from four and one-half to five per cent and which was amply secured. That he placed about $40,000 of same in the Temple State Bank, more than $20,000 of which remained there for approximately one year, and that he deposited the other amounts in banks in which he was interested as a stockholder, and the American National Bank, to which he shortly afterwards became indebted. That he received direct and personal profit as a REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO PREPARE ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Bledsoe, for the committee appointed this morning to prepare and present articles of impeachment against the Governor, submitted the following report:

Committee Room,
Austin, Texas, August 24, 1917.

Hon. F. O. Fuller, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Sir: Your board of managers apstockholder of the Temple State Bank from the deposit placed with it; thus using and misapplying State funds for his individual benefit and profit.

Article 3. That James E. Ferguson testified under oath on March 11 and 12, 1917, before the House Investigating Committee that he had made arrangements with the Houston National Exchange Bank to take up two certain promissory notes, one signed by A. F. Ferguson and one signed by J. H. Davis, Jr., each for the sum of $37,500. That he further testified that he was not indebted to the Temple State Bank at that time.) That as a matter of fact the indebtedness represented by the said notes, was the personal indebtedness of the said James E. Ferguson, and the said notes had been executed by said A. F. Ferguson and J. H. Davis, Jr., at the instance of said James E. Ferguson and for his accommodation. That he had guaranteed the payment of both of said notes, the makers thereof being utterly unable to pay them, which said fact was known to James E. Ferguson. That said notes were actually transferred to the Houston National Exchange Bank for a period of about ten days only with the endorsement of and guarantee of the Temple State Bank and the agreement to repurchase within a few days, and the added obligation that said Temple State Bank should maintain during the period of time the note should be held by said Houston National Exchange Bank on deposit with said bank an average and compensating balance in an amount equal to the total amount of said notes, to-wit: The sum of $75,000. That as a matter of fact said James E. Ferguson was still liable on said notes, and same were transferred only for a period of ten days, and that said transfer of the notes was not bona fide.

Article 4. That James E. Ferguson testified before the former House Investigating Committee that within sixty days prior to his giving said testimony he had caused to be paid into the Temple State Bank $112,500 and $15,000. In other words, $127,500 in cash to the Temple State Bank. That as a matter of fact $75,000 of said amount was represented by the A. F. Ferguson note and the J. H. Davis note of $37,500 each, and that same were not paid to the Temple State Bank in cash, but were only transferred to the Houston National Exchange Bank to be held for a period of about ten days. That as a matter of fact said notes were still due by James E. Ferguson, because the makers within his knowledge were not able to pay same, and he had guaranteed same in writing to the Temple State Bank. That said transfer did not relieve the Temple State Bank of an excessive loan of James E. Ferguson, because said two notes were endorsed and payment guaranteed by the Temple State Bank; and the said James E. Ferguson and the Temple State Bank knew that after a period of about ten days said notes could be returned to the Temple State Bank. That said two notes were actually returned to the Temple State Bank, and that after said committee had adjourned the Temple State Bank was carrying again the same two notes in violation of the laws of the State of Texas.

Article 5. That James E. Ferguson testified under oath before the House Investigating Committee on March 11 and 12, 1917, that he was not indebted to the Temple State Bank. That at said time he owed to said bank a note for $11,243.07 on which there had been paid by him on February 13, 1917, and less than a month before he testified, the sum of about $3029, leaving a balance due on said note of more than $8000, which was then owing to the Temple State Bank, and was not paid until June 16, 1917.

Article 6. That there was deposited by James E. Ferguson in the Temple State Bank on or about the month of January, 1917, the sum of $60,000 belonging to the State of Texas and in the possession of the Secretary of State by virtue of his office, said amount being represented by a check of the Secretary of State, although the State Treasury was open for the purpose of receiving same. That James E. Ferguson was a stockholder in said bank, owning more than one-fourth of the stock and that the said Temple State Bank and James E. Ferguson used said funds and received the profit and benefit, the said James E. Ferguson receiving more than one-fourth of the profits and of the benefits.

Article 7. That on or about May 29, 1917, James E. Ferguson accompanied T. H. Heard, president of the Temple State Bank, to the American National Bank at Austin, and the said T. H. Heard deposited to the credit of the Temple State Bank with the knowledge and consent of the said James E. Ferguson, the sum of $250,000 of the funds belonging to the State of Texas and in the possession of the Secretary of State, said funds being represented by five checks drawn by the Secretary of State in the sum of $50,000 each although the State Treasury was then and there open for the purpose of receiving same. That the said James E. Ferguson owned more than one-fourth of the stock of the Temple State Bank and that said amount was used by the Temple State Bank for its own profit and benefit, more than one-fourth of which profit and benefit belonged to James E. Ferguson.

Article 8. That James E. Ferguson sought to have the State Highway Commissioner deposit State funds of that department with the Temple State Bank so that said bank might receive the profit and benefit from same, and he being a heavy stockholder would have received a portion of the benefits. That he also had, or permitted, other departments of the State Government to deposit money with the Temple State Bank, or with other banks, to the credit of the Temple State Bank, said amounts belonging to the State of Texas, and that the Temple State Bank profited from the use of said funds, and the said James E. Ferguson received more than one-fourth of the profit and benefit.

Article 9. That the said James E. Ferguson has himself deposited, or caused or permitted to be deposited, funds in banks when the Treasury of the State of Texas was open for business, which funds should have been in the State Treasury. That he has used and permitted the use of funds by officers appointed by him for purposes other than the paying of same into the Treasury of this State, said funds being substantially as follows:

(a) That about the month of January, 1917, he deposited with the Temple State Bank the sum of $60,000 of funds in the possession of the Secretary of State.

(b) That on May 29, 1917, in company with T. H. Heard, president of the Temple State Bank, he permitted the deposit of funds in the possession of the Secretary of State to the credit of the Temple State Bank in an amount of $250,000.

(c) That he permitted the Commissioner of the Insurance and Banking Department to deposit funds during the year 1916 with the Temple State Bank in an amount of more than $10,000.

(d) That each and all of the above acts were knowingly and wilfully committed by the said James E. Ferguson.

Article 10. That on March 3, 1917, he stated in a public speech before the House of Representatives, which body had under consideration a resolution to investigate charges of official misconduct against him (one of said charges being borrowing more money from the Temple State Bank than was authorized by the laws of Texas), that he was not indebted to the said bank in any amount whatsoever, when as a matter of fact he was indebted to same at that time for more than was authorized by law.

Article 11. That in this investigation of James E. Ferguson by the Committee of the Whole House of Representatives said James E. Ferguson testified that during the Regular Session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature and shortly thereafter he received from parties certain currency in varying amounts, the total of which was about $156,500. That said transaction is unusual and questionable and that the said James E. Ferguson when questioned as to who loaned him this money, declined to answer, although the officer of the Committee of the Whole appointed to pass on the admissibility of testimony ruled that he should answer, and the committee sustained said ruling. That he is thus not only in contempt of the House and its committee, but he insists that he is not required to give before the representatives of the people of Texas an accounting of said $156,500 in currency which he received during sessions of the Legislature or shortly thereafter, and the receipt of such sums in currency, and the failure to account for same, constitutes official misconduct.

Article 12. That James E. Ferguson had on deposit during the year 1916 in the American National Bank to his account as Governor certain sums of money belonging to the Adjutant General's Department of Texas aggregating more than $3000, said funds being the property of the State of Texas, but set aside for that department. That in violation of the Statutes of Texas he diverted these funds from their lawful purpose and paid same as a portion of the amount for the construction of buildings of the Normal College located at Canyon City.

Article 13. That at the former investigation of Governor James E. Ferguson he was specifically charged with the misapplication of moneys of the State of Texas in the purchase of groceries, feed, automobile tires, gasoline, etc. The committee appointed by the House of Representatives found that he did so misapply several thousand dollars and converted same to his own use in the purchase of the items above enumerated. That before that committee Governor Ferguson testified under oath that if the case of Middleton vs. Terrell, Comptroller, should be decided by the Supreme Court against him that he would refund to the State of Texas such amounts misappropriated by him in accordance with said decision. The Supreme Court long ago refused an application for writ of error and overruled a motion for rehearing, thus deciding against him, but James E. Ferguson is still indebted under said decision to the State of Texas for groceries, feed, automobile tires, gasoline, etc., which were for his private use, but which were paid with State funds, and he has failed to pay same in accordance with his oath before said committee of the House of Representatives. The report of the House Investigating Committee stated that the charge of misapplication of funds should not justify the serious penalty of impeachment, inasmuch as Governor Ferguson had testified that he would promptly pay said amounts to the State, and that in the judgment of the committee this agreement to repay should be considered in connection with the good faith of the Governor. That the said James E. Ferguson was guilty of a misapplication of the appropriation made by the Legislature for fuel, lights, ice and incidentals, in that he used same in the purchase of groceries, feed, automobile tires, gasoline, etc., for his private use, and that his refusal to repay said funds constitutes a continued misapplication of the public funds of Texas.

Article 14. That by an express provision of the Constitution and his oath of office the Governor is bound to enforce all laws of the State of Texas. The laws of Texas during the period of his administration expressly forbade State banks to lend money in excess of 30 per cent of its capital stock. This was known to the Governor, yet in violation of this provision of the law he induced the officers of the Temple State Bank to lend to him, James E. Ferguson, an amount far in excess of that authorized by law, which loans were made during the years 1916 and 1917.

Article 15. The people of this State have adopted an organic law, the Constitution of Texas, equally binding upon its highest officials and its humblest citizens. Article 7 of that Constitution provides for the maintenance and support of the University of Texas. That provision is a direction given by the people themselves in their most solemn manner to those who represent them in office as to their duties.

The Governor has vetoed or attempted to veto the entire appropriation for the University of Texas except the salary of one officer, thus in effect seeking to set aside that provision of the organic law requiring the support and maintenance of that institution, and to set aside the express will and judgment of the people of Texas. Though he had the legal power to veto, it was his sworn constitutional duty to again submit the question to the Legislature, which he has declared to the people of Texas that he would not do, and it was only when a session had been called for his impeachment and it was apparent that a quorum of the House would attend to consider that question, and as a last extremity, he consented to call a session of the Legislature and submitted the question of appropriations for the University of Texas.

Article 16. Section 30a of Article 16 of the Constitution of Texas provides for a Board of Regents for the University of Texas, who shall hold office for six years, their terms expiring one-third every two years. The purpose of the people of Texas in the adoption of this provision was to take the University of Texas and all other such State institutions from the control of politics, and to keep the different boards from being under the control and domination of whomever might happen to be Governor. By Articles 2639 and 2640 of the Revised Civil Statutes of 1911 the Board of Regents are given the management of the affairs of the University of Texas with the discretion to remove members of the faculty when in their judgment it is deemed best. That it is the duty of the Governor, or any private citizen, to call attention of the Board of Regents to any mismanagement or improper practices at the University or any other State institution, is readily conceded. The people themselves have given to the Board of Regents by constitutional enactment, which has been confirmed by statutory law, the sole right to judge of the truth of the charges and the punishment to be inflicted against members of the faculty. The Board of Regents in their sphere are just as supreme as the Governor is in his, each having both constitutional and statutory duties to perform, and each being answerable to the people of Texas. The Governor of Texas not only filed charges against certain members of the faculty, as he had a right to do, but after the members were exonerated by the Board of Regents he has sought to have the members of the faculty expelled from that institution because he desired it. He has thus sought to set aside the Constitution and law giving to the Board of Regents the discretion in matters of this kind, and assert instead of their legal judgment his own autocratic will.

Article 17. Article 6027 of the Revised Civil Statutes of 1911 provides for the removal of members of the Board of Regents (among other officials) for "good and sufficient cause." The Governor has sought to remove members of the Board of Regents without such cause, has demanded resignations of others without reason, simply and only because he could not dictate to them as to how they should cast their votes in reference to matters arising before them. Such conduct was a clear violation of the law, and would serve to make inoperative the provision of the Constitution providing for six-year terms of office.

Article 18. The Governor of Texas has in public speech and published writing declared to the people of Texas that the faculty of the University are grafters and corruptionists, that they are liars, and that they are disloyal to their government. These are most serious charges. He made them first before the Legislature convened in January, 1917. The members of the faculty, in justice to themselves, to the institution which they served, and to the people of Texas, whose money supports and maintains that institution, applied to the Senate of Texas for a full and fair investigation. They sought in every way possible that the people of Texas might know every fact and circumstance connected with the management of the University of Texas. James E. Ferguson opposed that investigation and on the urging of his friends in the Senate that the controversy was ended, and that the charges would not be repeated, there was adopted the Dayton resolution by the Senate of Texas, which was for the purpose of settlung the controversy. After the Legislature had adjourned and when investigation was no longer possible by the representatives of the people, the Governor again repeated the charges, becoming more and more vehement. If he knew the charges to be true, it became his sworn duty to cause the parties involved to be prosecuted. If he did not know them to be true (and the Board of Regents after a fair hearing found that they were not true), he is guilty of criminal libel and slander against the fair name of Texas and one of its most cherished institutions.

Article 19. The Governor of Texas has sought to use the power of his office to control members of the Board of Regents. The chairman of the Board of Regents had become surety on a bail bond, the case pending in Jones county, Texas. The defendant escaped and judgment was secured on said bond in the sum of $5000 against the principal and sureties, one of the sureties being Wilbur P. Allen, chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas. He applied to the Governor of Texas for the remission of the judgment, which he would have had to pay, and without good reason, but only to influence his action as a member of the Board of Regents, James E. Ferguson as Governor remitted the forfeiture of $5000, which, except for such action of James E. Ferguson, would have belonged to the people of Texas.

Article 20. That the said James E. Ferguson has sought to improperly influence the courts of Texas in matters in which he had a personal interest, first:

(a) After he had received from the Thirty-fifth Legislature at its Regular Session a bill passed by that Legislature for the increase of the salaries of certain judges, among others being those of the judges of the Supreme Court of Texas, he wrote them a letter calling attention to certain provisions of the Constitution of Texas, and after they had ruled against him, vetoed the bill and gave as one of his reasons the fact that that court had allowed him no more than $4000 salary.

(b) That while the case of Maddox vs. Dayton Lumber Company was pending in the Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont, and after a motion for rehearing had been overruled, and in a case in which the Governor was a party, and the decision of said court being against him and his associates, he wrote to one of the members of that court who had asked an endorsement by him, declining to endorse him, and bitterly criticising the decision of that court in that case, and mailed copies of the letter to the other members of that court. That within a few days thereafter his attorneys filed a second motion for rehearing.

Article 21. That during the session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature James E. Ferguson, as Governor of Texas, submitted to the Senate of Texas the nomination of C. W. Woodman for confirmation as Labor Commissioner. The Senate of Texas refused to confirm the nomination. That the Governor then submitted to the Senate of Texas the name of Frank Schwor, deputy under C. W. Woodman, which nomination was confirmed by the Senate. But that he has failed and refused to qualify, and more than a reasonable time has elapsed since his appointment, but that he has continued to act as deputy, and the said C. W. Woodman has continued to act as Commissioner. And knowing these facts Governor Ferguson has failed and refused to make an appointment and C. W. Woodman, although confirmation was refused him by the Senate of Texas many months ago, continued to hold the office and draw the pay. That it was the duty of the Governor, when the Senate refused to confirm C. W. Woodman, to make another nomination, and in case the nominee refused to qualify, that it was his duty to make another appointment; but that he has failed and refused to do so in defiance of the Constitution of Texas and his oath of office.

In view of the premises the House of Representatives of the State of Texas does charge James E. Ferguson in the manner and by the means aforesaid, and that he did thereby render himself unworthy and no longer fit to exercise the duties incumbent upon the Governor of the State of Texas.

And the House of Representatives, saving to itself the liberty of presenting at any future date further articles of impeachment or other accusations against the said James E. Ferguson, and also of replying to his answer which he shall make under said articles, if he does so file an answer, and of offering proof to sustain each and all of the above articles and to each and all other articles or accusations which shall be required by them or which the case shall require, requests that the said James E. Ferguson be called on to answer the above Articles of Impeachment, and that in such proceedings the examinations, trials, and judgments thereof be had and given thereto as are agreeable to law and justice.

Mr. Bledsoe moved that the House adopt the report.

Mr. Templeton moved as a substitute for the above motion that the House consider the report article by article.

Mr. Bledsoe accepted the substitute motion.

Mr. Monday moved to postpone further consideration of the report until tomorrow.

Mr. Johnson moved to table the motion to postpone.

Yeas and nays were demanded, and the motion to table prevailed by the following vote:

Reasons for Votes.

I vote "no" on the impeachment charges against Governor James E. Ferguson for the reason that I do not believe that the facts disclosed by the investigation justify such a severe penalty as impeachment which would forever take from the people the right to elect him to office if they should so desire.

PARKS.

I desire to give my reasons for voting "no" on the adoption of these resolutions as a whole recorded in the Journal. I voted "yes" on three of the charges because I believed the testimony established the correctness or truthfulness of those three charges, but now I am called upon to vote on the charges as a whole and I believe that the evidence does not establish the correctness and truthfulness of all the charges and for that reason I vote "no".

ROEMER.

I voted "yea" on charges 1 and 12; but cannot vote for any of the other charges and am therefore compelled to vote "no" on the entire twenty-one charges because charges 1 and 12 are not segregated.

POPE.

I vote "no" on final passage of the report of Managers of the Impeachment, because while I voted for several of the articles, many of them were not in my judgment either sufficiently proven or of sufficient force to justify the punishment of impeachment and I did not want to go on record as favoring all of said articles.

MILLER of Dallas.

Mr. Dudley moved to reconsider the vote by which the report of the committee and the Articles of Impeachment were adopted and to table the motion to reconsider.

The motion to table prevailed.

TO NOTIFY THE SENATE OF ADOPTION OF ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Cope offered the following resolution:

Whereas, The House of Representatives has adopted the report of its Board of Managers and certain articles of impeachment against James E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, presented therewith, and

Whereas, It is necessary to notify the Senate of Texas so that they may prepare to receive the articles of impeachment; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be instructed to state to the Senate of Texas, that the Board of Managers of the House of Representatives is desirous of presenting certain articles of impeachment against Jas. E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, to the Senate, and requests the Senate that they will notify the House of Representatives when they are ready to receive the Board of Managers; be it, further Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the Senate be requested to fix the time of the trial in the Senate of the said James E. Ferguson, and that they be requested to notify the House of Representatives as to the date thereof.

COPE,
BRYAN.

The resolution was read second time. Yeas and nays were demanded, and
